Amber George
On the Rocks
2007
Monoprint
Framed: 19 1/8 x 25 x 1 1/4 inches

Amber George, painter and printmaker, lives in North San Diego County. George's work is informed by her keen observations of nature. Whether in her garden or on a sailboat, her eye is constantly attuned to shapes and patterns in nature. George graduated from UCLA with a degree in Fine Arts in 1994, there she studied with Don Suggs, Lari Pittman and Nancy Rubins and chose to explore contemporary art issues in drawing, painting, sculpture and installation.
Estimated value: $750.00

Greg Evans
9/26 Watching TV
1992
Ink on paper
Framed: 11 7/8 x 21 x 1 1/2 inches

Greg Evans has published Luann in major newspapers since 1985. The daily comic strip features teenager Luann DeGroot, her parents, brother, pet dog, and a few friends. Over the years, Evans has identified hundreds of amusing scenarios within his own family life and translated them onto the drawing pad. Today Luann can be read in nearly 400 papers. Evans states, "My goal is to create a strip that enlightens and informs as it entertains. Teens tend to think they're all alone in their struggles. I try to show that teen angst and family strife are universal and that a good sense of humor can ease the pain."
Estimated value: $200.00

24.2 x 19.4 inches

Niki de Saint Phalle was born in Neuilly-sur-Seine, Hauts-de-Seine, near Paris. She went on to attend Oldfields School in Glencoe, Maryland where she graduated in 1947. During her teenaged years, she was a fashion model; at the age of sixteen, she appeared on the cover of Life Magazine and French Vogue. While in Paris on a modeling assignment, de Saint Phalle was introduced to the American painter, Hugh Weiss, who became both her friend and mentor. He encouraged her to continue painting in her self-taught style. De Saint Phalle was also influenced by Gaudi. This influence led her to create one her own garden-based artwork that would combine both artistic and natural elements. At this point in her life, de Saint Phalle started making life size sculptures of women, such as brides and mothers giving birth. They were usually dressed in white and eventually evolved to be brightly colored. de Saint Phalle's sculptures are exhibited in public places around the world, including: the Stravinsky Fountain near the Centre Pompidou, Paris, Sun God on the campus of the University of California, San Diego as a part of the Stuart Collection of public art and Queen Califia's Magic Circle, a sculpture garden in Kit Carson Park, Escondido, California.
